

"HOW DIFFERENT ARE WE?"

Education and Culture DG

Lifelong Learning Programme

"How different are we?" includes students from 9 European schools who are interested in the psychology of personality. The project aims at establishing skills for intercultural communication based on tolerance, understanding, empathy and active citizenship. Our thesis is that knowledge and understanding of others, starts from the knowledge of ourselves.

To live together in our common European home, we must appreciate and respect not only the common between us but also our uniqueness.

1. We will use the techniques of psychodrama and art therapy, discussion and analysis. We will attempt to explore the collective unconscious through fairy tales and myths.
2. Leaving the irrational world, we will discuss what is our behavior, values and motivation today.
3. Since the language is reflection of our thoughts, we will analyze teenagers' most used and favorite words. We will create a multilingual dictionary.
4. We will use experts' analyses /psychologists and linguists/.
5. We will synthesize the fantasies and images into a "new symbol" for each partner on the basis of our new experience and collaboration.
6. We will acquire knowledge about different national cultures and languages. We will improve our competencies in English.
7. We will enhance the European dimension in our schools.
8. We will improve the ICT skills in students and teachers.
